APPENDIX 1 - Books to be done

The tables in this appendix list books that need to have number labels printed.

These numbers are generally for new books. However, sometimes there was an error in a label or a book needs to be recategorized. If corrections are in order, be sure to add a comment about the original number of the book so it can be found. Comments should be removed before restoring the line to the main catalog.

When labels have been affixed, and a church name/address label stuck in the front of the book, then an X is put in the right-most column.

This section may also contain tables of questionable books – are they missing? On loan? Is there a previous sheet of labels available with one for that book?

TO BE DONE/redone/fixd

LIST OF BOOKS TO BE DONE, or redone

		keep this blank line for sorting purposes
248.4 Fin		Merton's Palace of Nowhere (1978, 2003 revised)	Finley, James	X

248.8 Fis		Winter Grace: Spirituality and aging (1998)	Fischer, Kathleen	where
Fic Sav		Say Say Say (a novel about caregiving)	Savage, Lila	where

APPENDIX 2 – Helpful hints

Formatting

This catalog is formatted using Microsoft Word. It may not translate well into any other system.

Current table width is 7.48”

Columns are, respectively, .72, .33, 3.48, 2.37 and .58 inches

Feel free to change the measurements but be sure all tables have the same measurements.

Sorting and adding the ‘to be done’ books

- If there are only a few books from the ‘to be done’ list, they can be copied and inserted into the table manually. Ensure the columns line up properly.
- Otherwise, copy and move the table of done/redone books to immediately follow the original table, no space between and then do a sort, as follows:

To sort the catalog:

Under LAYOUT:

Select whole table.

Do a multi-column sort, choosing, in order Column 1, Column 4, and Column 3, all to be sorted by text.

Labels

From the ‘to be done’ list:

Into the template, copy a whole column (or less) at a time (15 labels max per column).

BE SURE that when a column is selected it doesn’t pick up any cells from the adjacent column. Might need to readjust column widths to avoid that.

Do a page worth of labels (or as many as to be done).

In the label template, Select All

On the home screen, Choose Ariel 10, Bold, centered.

Set Paragraphs for spacing 12 points above

NOTE: It works to print a partial sheet of labels, so the template does not have to be filled out starting in the first spot in the first column.

Table of contents

To update the Table of Contents, select it, and choose to update the whole table, not just page numbers. Sometimes headings change, or something gets incorrectly formatted and shows up in the Table.

APPENDIX 3 – Numbering Websites

The numbering system used is generally the Dewey Decimal system. However, a number of modifications have been done to adapt that to our library (see Appendix 4). Numbers in Nativity's library do not always follow those defined by Dewey or the used by the Library of Congress! But as a starting place for numbers, here are some suggested websites:

The edition page of any book may or may not provide information from the Library of Congress (LC). The Library of Congress contains almost every book that has ever been printed. When information is provided, it includes a list of topics covered in that book, the LC number, and very often, a Dewey number. The website for the LC is <https://catalog.loc.gov/> To search, you need to enter the book title followed by the last name of the author, otherwise the search results are way too long to be useful.

<https://www.amazon.com/> A search by both the title and the author's last name can be useful for finding book descriptions. These descriptions can be more useful than a book title in deciding on a category.

http://bpeck.com/references/ddc/ddc_mine300.htm This is a complete list of all the categories and their subdivisions. Choose tab for a general category (100, 200, 300, etc) to see detailed information about that category.

http://www.nationalbiblecollege.org/NBCS_Library_Call-Numbers.htm

Numbers used by the National Bible College. Sometimes useful for subcategories. Has other information such as how they decide on donation restrictions.

APPENDIX 4 – Nativity’s Dewey Numbering System

Cara Knittel modified the Dewey system to better fit Nativity’s library. Major modifications were made in the 220-227 section and the 283 section. Assorted changes were made to other categories. In deciding on a number you can start by using the ‘numbering’ hints in Appendix 3. But then look at our catalog to see if the book would fit better in one of the categories as specified by our version of Dewey. We have not always used the Dewey number suggested by Dewey or the Library of Congress!

The following lists may or may not be useful. None of these are on the website but may be kept on the current or pervious library coordinator's hard drive.

- Old catalogs, versions 25 and previous
- Books moved to other areas (Children's storybooks moved to the Nativity Nook and Young Adult items moved to the Youth Room (at the time, it had a television))
- Missing books or books removed from catalog (lost, deleted due to age)
- Note: Some lost books may be worth replacing
